

Is Family Medicine Moving Towards Preventative Care?

Question:

Is Family Medicine practices moving toward providing and implementing preventative care?

Hypothesis:

I hypothesize that Family Medicine practices are moving towards providing and implementing preventative care.

Preventative Care

Actions taken to prevent severe disease or significant complications. Examples of this are annual check-ups, immunization, and testing and screenings.

Urgent Care

Seeking immediate medical services for already present illness or injury. Example of this is sprains, fever, cuts, or diarrhea.
